Apples are one of the most popular and beloved fruits, having held a special place in human nutrition and health from ancient times to the present day, and they are grown and consumed worldwide. There are 7,500 different types of apples in the world! Among these, there are many varieties, with the most famous being Yellow Apple, Golden Delicious, Red Apple, Gala, Fuji, Red Delicious, Green Apple, and Rose Apple. All types of apples have similar properties with some differences in taste. This colorful and delicious fruit comes in a wide variety, and no other fruit can match its delicate taste.

The Yellow Apple is one of Evelin's products, distinguished by its unique color due to the presence of carotenoids. Carotenoids are a group of antioxidants that can give fruits a yellow or orange color. The carotenoid in Yellow Apples positively impacts Alzheimer's, Parkinson's, and dementia by improving brain function. Yellow Apples can be used in preparing diet salads, the most delicious apple pies for hosting, making tasty jams, and decorating pastries and desserts.

The Golden Delicious Apple is one of the apple varieties that attract many fans due to its Vitamin C content and various antioxidants, which are very effective in maintaining body health and can help control blood sugar levels and reduce the risk of cardiovascular diseases. This variety, with its golden-yellow color and sweet, delicious taste, stands out from other types of apples.

Another special product from the Evelin brand is the Red Apple, which is rich in iron and an excellent source of Vitamin C. The iron in Red Apples increases the hemoglobin level in the body, thus preventing anemia. It can also help increase bone density. Red Apples can be enjoyed plain as a snack, baked for personal use or in making jams, dried as a fruit snack, or preserved for making compote, benefiting from its unique properties.

The Gala Apple is known for its mild and sweet aroma and flavor. Gala Apples are usually bi-colored, with the red color being prominent. However, the good appearance and sweet taste are just one of the features that make Gala Apples a top choice among other apple varieties. This apple is actually packed with nutrients that significantly contribute to your health more than other apple varieties.

The Fuji Apple is one of the popular apple types in global markets, known for its unique characteristics. This type of apple belongs to the grafted apple category, with its red and yellow skin giving it an attractive appearance that can captivate apple enthusiasts.

The Green Apple is also another product of the Evelin brand and an excellent source of pectin. Pectin is a type of fiber that promotes the growth of beneficial bacteria in your stomach. It is also rich in minerals like calcium, potassium, and magnesium, which are alkaline. These alkaline minerals can neutralize the negative effects of stomach acid, especially when the intestinal and stomach tissues are ulcerated. As a rich source of these minerals, apples can help balance the acidic environment of the stomach and speed up wound healing.

A photograph of several apples, some red and some yellow, in a woven basket and on a wooden surface. The background is a soft, out-of-focus landscape with a bright light source, possibly the sun, creating a warm, golden glow. A semi-transparent green box with rounded corners is overlaid on the right side of the image, containing text.

The Rose Apple is a favorite among pregnant women. It is a medium-sized apple with a creamy white color with longitudinal red stripes. Rose Apples contain valuable compounds such as antioxidants, Vitamin A, B vitamins, Vitamin C, potassium, phosphorus, iron, and calcium. Rose Apples are generally eaten raw but can also be used in making compote, jam, and falooda.
